
Page of Interest to

All.

When Botts mounted the scaffold and faced the crowd the air of bravado which he had maintained was abandoned, and he burst into tears.

Buckroe at 9:30 P. M. Five hours at the seashore in the cool of the evening. $1.00 round trip. Tickets good returning on Outing Train from Old Point next day, $2.00 round trip.

Class Celebration.

The class of 1935 of the Richmond High School will hold their class celebration to-night at 8:30 o'clock at the Elbow Theatre. Admission will be by ticket only.

Cures Headache
caused by summer heat, overwork, nervous disorders or impaired digestion. Relieves quickly.

themselves, but they were not actually received by him. He stated that he had expected to respond to the toast, The Press, and was dumfounded to learn his mistake. His knowledge of banks and banking was gleaned from outside the grill, where he stood as a suppliant. Bankers, he said, were trustees of the public wealth. He spoke of the prosperity of Virginia's banks and banks of the South, stating that for many years the State produced many great men, but few banks, but now it was producing both. He congratulated his hearers that ideas of high finance had not invaded this State and expressed the hope that they would not. He paid a fine tribute to Mr. Cleveland and then to Fulton, Missouri, where, he said, was beloved from one end of this land to the other, because he had taken the broad and eternally enduring stand of justice to all men.

Mr. R. F. Maddox, of Atlanta, who had delighted his hearers at the morning session of the convention, was called upon. He made a bright and clever response, albeit extemporaneous. Apropos of substitutes he declared that a prize offered to Governor Oglethorpe's immigrants for the first child born in this country was the first subsidy ever offered to stimulate our infant industries. He expressed his appreciation of Vir. Banks' hospitality and assured his hearers of his remembrance of this meeting of the association.

MURDERER BROKE

(By Associated Press.)

PEORIA, ILL., June 18.—Otis Botts, twenty-one years old, was hanged here today for the murder of his girl wife, Mary, and their infant child, both born this past January. He strangled her with a piece of ribbon. Botts's mother wanted to attend the execution, but he said: "Don't do it; you will make me lose my nerve."

When Botts mounted the scaffold and faced the crowd the air of bravado which he had maintained was abandoned, and he burst into tears.

her school, rode with the camp from Augusta, which has made her an honorary member. This camp had a large representation and carried seven battle-flags. The marching band, of Columbia, which made a splendid appearance, brought up the rear of the Georgians.

Memphis, Nashville and Columbia camps made the Tennessee division, headed by General George Gordon, on the left. In the parade, General Gordon and the South Cross Drill Corps, of Memphis, composed of a bevy of young women, and riding in a tallyho, were heartily cheered, as were the Memphis Drug and Bugle Corps, the uniform of the latter attracting much attention. The Nashville and Covington commands, with splendid representations, were in strong contrast to the Forbes Blivance, which had but six men in line. Forrest's Cavalry brought up the rear of the Tennesseans. General W. E. Bailen was also considered the Florida division. The representation of the State was small.

The head of the parade reached the reviewing stand about half-past one. General Lee and General Wheeler were given an ovation. General Wheeler watched the parade seated on his horse and was overwhelmed by the veterans, thousands stopping to shake his hand.

An ovation, led by Mrs. Helen Longstreet, wife of General James Longstreet, was given General Simon Bolivar Buckner and Mrs. Buckner when their carriage passed.

Bear Strain Well.

The general expression among the veterans was that the parade was the best they had seen in the history of the association. Owing to the fact that a great many veterans dropped out of line before the reviewing stand was reached, it is difficult to make an estimate of the number in line.

It was the opinion of the old soldiers here the strain and fatigue well. There were no accidents to the veterans worse than being overcome by the heat, and these were not serious.

Class Celebration.

The class of 1903 at the Richmond High School, of which the author is a member, will meet at 8:30 o'clock at the Bijou Theatre. Admission will be by ticket only.

CONDUCTOR RUN OVER.

Bids on Steel Bridge Over Roanoke River.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WELDON, N. C., June 16.—Captain J. W. Foster, freight conductor on the Roanoke River line, was run over by a drifting engine at Hopkins, Va., last night and seriously injured. One of his hands was cut off, his arm was badly torn and bruised, and he received some wounds about the head.

Captain Foster was taken to Norfolk this morning and placed in a hospital for treatment.

Representatives of bridge companies have been here this week making estimates on the proposed new steel bridge over Roanoke River. The committee will have two surveys made—one above the Seaboard bridge and the other below.

NEW MISSOURI LAW.

Statute Against Race Track Betting Goes Into Effect To-day.

(By Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The new law making race track betting in Missouri illegal, goes into effect to-morrow. Union Park will close, but racing at Delmar will continue. It is said an eastern system of speculating on races will be adopted.

Clark—Murphy.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NORFOLK, VA., June 16.—The marriage of Miss Esther B. Murphy, daughter of Mr. J. B. Murphy, of this city, and Mr. Arthur L. Clark occurred last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 1833 West Brambleton Avenue, and was a most beautiful and impressive ceremony. The bride was accompanied by two bridesmaids of honor, Miss Estelle Murphy, of Princess Anne county, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Beulah Guyton, Mr. Augustine C. Dwyer was best man and Mr. Leonard Lorne, of Smithland, acted as master of ceremonies. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. S. Sailer, pastor of the Christian Memorial Church, at 1 o'clock. On their return from a Northern tour, Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE

Cures Headache

Caused by summer heat, overwork, nervous disorders or impaired digestion. Relieves quickly.